

Concerned With Osteoporosis Medication?

A Proven, More Effective Treatment for Osteoporosis [Not a Drug]

Hello {First_Name}!

If you are like thousands of women who are experiencing difficulties with, or very concerned about, taking medication for Osteoporosis, you owe it to yourself to look further for help.

We provide a medically proven treatment for Osteoporosis that requires no medication, has no side effects, and is twice as effective in building bone density than medication and.... we are in your neighborhood!

Hi, I'm Maeve King, General Manager of SuperSlow Zone. We are a medical exercise studio that has helped 100's of women just like you increase their bone density up to 15% and giving them the freedom and confidence to enjoy life without the side effects of medication.

We know you can't see or feel your bones. That is why Osteoporosis is called the 'silent enemy.' You are on a clock you can't see. Your bones need help now.

Don't believe us. Believe the Mayo Clinic.

Below are examples of a physician and a client, who are part of the growing numbers that don't believe medication has to be a first line treatment for Osteoporosis. Their words:

"The real-world musculoskeletal benefits of the bioDensity device and osteogenic loading on strength, coordination, balance and subsequently confidence are nothing short of astonishing. The drug-free, osteogenic loading bone density benefits are unique to the bioDensity device. As a surgeon, I foresee the bioDensity device improving my patient's quality of life drastically."

Jeffrey Bentson, MD

"As a matter of fact, I just had my DEXA bone test and I went from Osteoporosis, in some of my bones, to Osteopenia, now, and so I was very excited to see that difference. My bones are getting stronger – just what I want. That's what my doctor wants too."
